He lost the mom through a car accident, seen the dad only once for the past 20years. He doesn't know if the dad is alive or dead. Daniel has no decent place to sleep, no food to eat and sometimes only drinks water to sleep or even sleeps without food. He has no money to board transport from Accra to Sefwi Bekwai Senior High School which is about 386km (240miles) from Accra and about 8hours drive on a commercial transport. ## MY STORY

“I am Daniel Mensah Akligo. I was born on the 23rd December, 1999 and a student of Sefwi Bekwai Senior High School. I come from Aflao in the Volta Region of Ghana.

I started school at Sepfenufope RC Basic School at Aflao in the Ketu South Municipal Assembly. I started from Kindergarten one but stopped at primary one because my mother could not pay my examination fees. I stayed home for three years after which I went back to school. I started school again at the age of six. Since I started school, I never wrote any end of term exams because I was owing both school fees and examination fees. I stopped schooling without moving to a new class.

December 9th 2009, was the day I met my biological father for the first time when he came to his father’s (my grandfather’s) funeral. He left as soon as the funeral was over because he was residing in Nigeria

In January 2010, I decided to follow a family member who was coming to live and work in Accra. She agreed to allow me follow her when my mother permitted me. When we arrived in Accra, we both got work at a laundry (I was 10 years then). I worked for three months and I decided to go back to school because I have been seeing my age mates going to school and speaking English and I wanted to do the same thing. I spoke to my sister about it and she was ok with it so I got admitted to Klagon TMA Primary “A” Basic school at Klagon. I started school again at the age of 10 in class one (1), meanwhile the normal age for being in class one is six years.

Before the end of the third term in primary one, I was able to speak and write in English. After the promotional exams, I was promoted to primary two. I continued from there to primary six. During my second term in primary six, I lost my mother in a car accident. I travelled back to my hometown for her burial. After the burial, I could not come back to Accra because the person I was staying with (the family member) had gotten married and left for Benin.

After staying in the village for some time, I decided to come back to Accra because my aunts and uncles were unwilling to help me go back to school because I was attending church at the village which is a taboo in the family; because my grandfather was a fetish priest. The only way they would help me is I should stop going to church.

I came back to Accra knowing very well that I have no place to sleep, no food to eat and water to drink.

Fortunately, I met Mr Appiah, my primary six teachers, gladly greeted him and he asked why I stopped the school and I explained everything to him. He then asked me to return to school the following Monday. Meanwhile a friend had also offered to allow me to stay with him in a kiosk (wooden structure)

He took me to see Miss Olivia Soglo, the headmistress of the Junior High School department when I went to see him. She conducted a test for me to see if I qualify to be in form 1, after the test, she said I was good and I was admitted to JHS 1.

Mr. Appiah (my primary six teacher) bought all the items I needed to start the school. I was promoted to JHS 2 after final exams in JHS 1. I could not complete JHS two because I was owing a lot and Mr Appiah could not afford to pay so I had to quit school and look for a job (cleaning of people's houses, washing people's cars, weeding and running errands). After working for some time, I decided that I needed a certificate and therefore, I have to complete at least the Junior High School. I got myself admitted to school and sailed to form three where I was made the school prefect.

The time came to pay registration fees for the BECE. I could not raise enough money to pay the fees. At this point life was very tough because it was difficult to even get food to eat and I sometimes have to sleep on empty stomach and in some cases I have to drink water to sleep.

By the grace of God someone paid my fees and I wrote my exams.

I gained admission to Sefwi- Bekwai Senior High School and I am currently in SHS 1. I have no mother, no father and no one to help me. I live with a friend in a kiosk. Sometimes I have to drink water for the whole day as my food. Last term when school reopened, I needed money to pay for transport to school and buy some food to eat when I go to school. All my hope was lost and I was about to quit the Senior High School when someone introduced me to Mr Benjamin Turkson the Executive Director (ED) of Blue Horizon Aid who supported me with money to transport me to school and some money for upkeep. BHA also supported me with some textbooks I needed in school.

During the lockdown, Executive Director also donated food items, hand sanitizers, nose mask and cash donation to support me in these difficult times.

God bless BHA for restoring my hope to complete my Senior High School."
